Surveys:
SDA Priority Survey 1 and 2, 1992, 1994
This is a World Bank Priority Survey. The data are collected in only on visit to the households. Incomes are asked with some detail for past twelve months and include income from self-employment (split in a few parts), employment, rent, remittances, transfers (pensions, scholarships, insurance) and other income. No in-kind items are specified so the income concept is apparently monetary gross income. The expenditure side is poor; concerning food items, only 5 items are surveyed. Food and transportation are asked for last two weeks, medical expenses for last month, clothing expenditure for last three months and education and rent for last year. Home production is not included in the questionnaire.
