Household Sample Survey 1973, 1975, 1977, 1979
These surveys were conducted by the Department of Statistics on selected islands of Bahamas. The income information was recorded in seven broad groups. The income concept was defines as the total annual receipts of incomes. It includes earnings, capital income (rental, dividends and interest), pensions, unemployment benefits, alimony and other free income benefits. An estimate of income in-kind was also included. The reference period for the incomes was the month preceding the interview.
