Surveys:  Enquete permanente de conjuncture économique et sociale 1994, 1995  This is a World Bank Priority Survey. The 1994 survey included 4408 households and the 1995 survey 4343. As in general with priority surveys, the questionnaires were very limited and only one visit was paid to the households. Only a few details were asked on consumption, for example, 8 food items and 4 non-food items. Self-consumption was also included in the questionnaire. Durables and questions about health and transportation were not included.
